

Alice Springs

To the Editor: Your June 15 article "What's Hot, Sandy and Full of Life?" about the new Alice Springs Desert Park, led us to explore this spectacular "bio-park," which we would probably have avoided as just a local nature walk had it not been for your informative piece. It is indeed a world-class park.

Also new in Alice Springs is the Red Ocher Restaurant on the Todd Mall across from the historic Adelaide House. Part of an emerging chain from Adelaide, it uses native bush products and ingredients.

We brought home a suitcase full of their chutneys and other products.
